Getting Started

Need help setting up your new HDTV? Talk to a Geek Squad® Installer. With an in-home consultation, they can make sure you get the best HD experience for your home. For more information or to schedule an installation, please call 1-800-GEEK SQUAD (1-800-433-5778).

Rather do it yourself?
Check out our DIY installation guide for tips on everything from selecting a seating area and furniture to wiring and wall mounting.

Choose your own accessories:

- Wall Mount — Go for a clean, space-saving look by mounting your TV to the wall. Use our MountFinder to find the one that's right for you.
- Cables — Connect your audio/video components and game systems to your new TV with cables designed to deliver the best picture and sound possible.
- Entertainment Furniture — Get a sleek audio/video tower for your components. Or, if you don't plan to wall mount your TV, find the right entertainment center for your entire setup.

Watching HDTV

It's a common misconception that an HDTV automatically displays an HD picture. To really experience the true capability of your HDTV, you need an HD source.

Popular HD sources:

TiVo® HD DVR — Get this premium high-definition digital cable recorder at an affordable price. The TiVo HD digital video recorder is the ultimate HDTV companion, combining a crystal-clear HD picture with the smart, easy-to-use TiVo service that lets you watch your favorite programs whenever you want.

DIRECTV — Now with more than 95 HD channels, this satellite service is now the current leader in HD content and promises to deliver a spectacular selection of HD programs to your new HDTV.

Blu-ray Disc — Watch hundreds of movies and TV shows in high definition.

PlayStation 3 and Xbox 360 — Get into gaming in HD. Both systems offer a stunning, high-definition gaming experience. Plus, the PS3 features a built-in Blu-ray Disc player for watching movies in high def.

Completing Your Experience

The enveloping, immersive listening experience of a surround sound system is the ideal way to complete your HD experience. Movies, TV shows and video games in high definition all feature surround sound. But you'll need to add speakers to truly enhance your entertainment.

There are two choices for surround sound, depending on your personal preferences:

- Home Theater Systems — These systems come complete in a single box. They all contain speakers and many also contain receivers and DVD players. This is the fastest and easiest way to get surround sound.
- Audio Systems & Components — Choose the speakers, receiver and other components you want to create the home theater system that's right for your home.

Need help? Check out this guide to setting up surround sound. Or consult a professional. In-home Geek Squad® Installers and in-store sales staff would be happy to help you choose the system that's right for you.

We hope you enjoy your new HDTV and all it has to offer. If you have any questions, just click to call and speak to a product specialist.
